

CONGRESSMAN CLARK HURLS PHILIPPIC IN HOUSE

Replies to Payne's Recent Tariff Speech and Refers to Diversity of Opinion Concerning Roosevelt

Republican Panic Gives Lie Direct to Platform of 1904---Claims President is Lauded Because He is Dispenser of Pie.

Washington, Feb. 13.—Charging the Republicans with trying to work a "stupendous confidence game" on the American people by declaring in their next platform tariff revision, without indicating whether that revision is to be up or down, Representative Champ Clark of Missouri, Democratic candidate for speaker in the next congress, hurled another philippic in the house today.

Replying to Republican floor leader Payne's recent tariff speech Clark said:

"Mr. Payne's position seems to be about this: Tariff revision and a maximum and minimum tariff should be brought about. Republicans have had absolute control of all branches of the government for 11 years and have left undone in this regard that which they ought to have done; but if the people will only overlook past omissions and give them a new lease of power, they will revise the tariff either up or down and establish a maximum and minimum tariff, he isn't exactly certain which; and American voters are asked to go to the polls and buy these tariff pigs in a poke."

Referring to the diversity of opinion concerning President Roosevelt, Clark said:

"He cannot express his views upon any question under heaven; even upon a subject so prosaic and threadbare as the prospective state of the weather without precipitating a row."

FIFTEENTH DISTRICT IS DEADLOCKED AT CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge, Feb. 13.—(3:00 p. m.)—Up until this hour 41 ballots have been taken in the Fifteenth District Republican Congressional convention fight and the convention is deadlocked, the last ballot resulting: Dawes, 69; Brown, 68; Joyce, 41; Jennings, 14; Haines, 3. It is hardly probable that a break will occur today.

THINKS MORSE HAS DEPOSITED LARGE SUM OF MONEY ABROAD

New York, Feb. 13.—U. S. District Attorney Stimson is said to believe that the reason he can't find more of Charles W. Morse's money and securities is because the financier has at least a large share of them on deposit in a Berlin bank.

Attorney Wing representing Receiver Hanna of the National bank of North America is understood to have found evidence indicating that Morse placed a large balance to his credit in Germany some time last fall. Wall street thinks the former "Ice King" made a clean up of about $2,000,000 on the market slump.

If Morse really has a fortune in Berlin it will be difficult for American claimants against him to lay hands on it.

The energetic preparations New York state and federal authorities are making to meet Morse, even before the Elburia docks with him on board, suggest that both District Attorney Jerome and U. S. Marshal Henkel think they will have warrants or other important writs to serve when he returns from Europe.

PRESIDENT TO SEND TROOPS TO ALASKA

Washington, Feb. 13.—President Roosevelt has decided to send federal troops to Fairbanks, Alaska, on account of the disorders growing out of the miners' strike there.

Reports received today by the department of justice from United States Marshal Perry at Fairbanks, Alaska, were of such a disquieting nature that Attorney General Bonaparte hastened to the White House. It was upon information contained in the marshal's telegram that the President decided to utilize the Federal troops.

DORA M'DONALD WILL DON NURSE'S GARB TO AID CHARITY CAUSE

Chicago, Feb. 13.—With her acquittal on the charge of having murdered Webster Guerin came a declaration from Mrs. Dora McDonald on Wednesday that she would devote the remainder of her life to nursing and helping children in need.

After a trip to Palestine with her mother, Mrs. Francis Feldman, she will then don the garb of a nurse and enter the hospital of the Daughters of the American Revolution to be built next summer on the West Side. The announcement is a surprise to her friends, but Mrs. McDonald declared she had made her plans two weeks ago. The hospital is to be for maternity cases and one of the wards is to be named the Dora McDonald ward.

Mrs. McDonald's face lighted up as she discussed her future plans and ambition while seated in her room at the Sherman house, where friends were congratulating her on her acquittal.

She trembled slightly when reference was made to the circumstances attending the death of Guerin, but for the first time she consented to tell what happened on the morning of the tragedy.

"Webster Guerin did not commit suicide. Neither was he murdered. When I went there and told him that I had told all to Dad he choked me. I don't remember all that happened. For I was rendered unconscious. I opened my eyes and saw Webster standing over me. I heard him say, 'God! have I killed her?' Then I saw a flash. I leaped to my feet and we struggled. Then there was a report and when I next looked at him Webster was lying on the floor. When I saw he was dead I immediately broke the window and called for help."

ALLEGES ALDRICH BILL IS DRAWN SOLELY IN INTERESTS OF WALL ST.

Washington, Feb. 13.—Alleging that the Aldrich financial bill is drawn solely in the interests of Wall street, and that it puts in the hands of three men, Morgan, Rockefeller and Ryan, power to create panics and to contract or expand the currency of the country to an extent of $100,000,000 or more, at their pleasure, and to their personal profit and advantage, Alfred O. Crozier of Wilmington, Del., in a sensational petition, demands the defeat of the bill. His petition was presented today by Senator Tillman.

"Unwise currency legislation," he says, "will ruin it. It will defeat the party responsible for it, for people this year are in no mood to overlook wrongs of enactment of any law believed to be for the express benefit of Wall street. It is believed that Wall street gladly will swap the presidency for the rich fruits and dangerous powers contained in the Aldrich bill."

Crozier intimates that the recent panic was caused by money kings to force currency legislation similar to the Aldrich bill. He says the power given them in the bill will enable them to cause panics at will and will put an extra profit of one billion dollars in the pockets of holders of railroad bonds.

Friends of Foraker Talk of Complete Independ- ent State Ticket

Cannon and Cortelyou to Head Ticket of Anti-Adminis- tration Crowd.

Washington, Feb. 13.—For president—Joseph G. Cannon of Illinois.
For vice president—George Cortelyou of New York.

This is the tentative ticket which the anti-administration leaders agreed before Senator Murray Crane of Massachusetts left the city for New York.

Senator Crane's friends deny that there are to be further changes in his plans, and insisted that final arrangements were being made in New York City to formulate a definite plan of action which would meet the approval of the enemies of the President in all of the Eastern states.

Incidentally, it became known that the determination of Senator Foraker to send contesting delegates to the Chicago convention from Ohio in spite of the overwhelming majority which Secretary Taft obtained in the Republican primary election Tuesday was a part of Senator Crane's plan to have all of the Taft delegates barred from the convention under similar contests.

The opponents of the President have already discovered that their plan to obtain control of the national committee in order to throw out the Taft men from the South and seat anti-administration delegates in their places would arouse such bitter opposition in the party organization in the North and West that it would be unwise to undertake the program without having contests in Northern states to settle in Secretary Taft's favor.

Under this program, authoritatively said to have been prepared by Senator Dick, the Foraker contingent will arrange to send contesting delegates from the 21 congressional districts in Ohio. It has been arranged further that the national committee shall see to it that the 42 delegates from these districts elected by the Foraker men are barred from the convention and the regular Taft delegates are seated.

Senators Dick and Crane, believe that the action of the committee in throwing the Foraker delegates will enable the committee to plead absolute fairness for its action in throwing out the Taft delegates from the Southern states.

It is plain that this plan to bar a large number of the Taft delegation is worrying Secretary Taft's managers greatly, and several conferences have already been held with a view of devising a plan to counteract this effort to seize control of the convention.

Senator Foraker did not attend the session of the senate yesterday, although he spent a great deal of his time in the Republican cloak room. He appeared to feel his loss of control of the Republican machine in his state.

Incidentally the Taft men in the

DECENT PRIMARY ELECTION LAW BADLY NEEDED

PROBABILITY OF DEADLOCK—HUNT OFFERS SWEEPING AMENDMENT.

Old Soldiers Favor Putting up Flags on Court Houses—Would Punish Tax Dodgers.

Columbus, O., Feb. 13.—(Special).—Never was there such a flagrant exhibit of the need of a decent primary election law in Ohio as the farce palmed off as a state Republican primary Tuesday. Its direct product will be the most notorious machine-made convention ever held in the state of Ohio. So confusedly machine made was the fiasco that only 36 counties went through the form because of local nominations to be made, while the delegates from the other 52 counties to a state convention which is to endorse William H. Taft for president were selected by dictation under the plan promulgated by the state committee, and will carry credentials to the convention without even the formality of having been selected by a primary election or by a county convention; and these delegates are also to select the candidates for the state Republican ticket. Hence Mr. Taft is to become chief beneficiary of a more vicious exercise of machine power than the Cincinnati bossism which he denounced in his Akron speech near the close of the 1905 campaign.

HIRAM S. BRONSON, Representative of Franklin County and Author of Primary Election Bill on House Calendar.

Under a law passed by a Republican legislature, the author of it being the same Representative Bronson of Franklin county who is sponsor of one of the primary election bills pending before the present legislature, they resorted to such flagrant methods that over half the counties found it possible to pack the delegations without going through the formality of a ballot. The object of Republican politicians in all their clamor for "honest primary elections" is easy to discover. In most of the counties Republicans nominate by conventions while the almost universal rule of the Democrats is to nominate by primaries. That Republicans are so solicitous to reform the methods by which Democrats make their nominations ought to be plain enough without a diagram. But since Republicans of Ohio have resorted to methods which seem to justify Colonel W. A. Taylor, the veteran Democratic writer, historian and critic, giving their procedure the name of "dead-fall" and "coon-trap" primaries, to make sure of a presidential endorsement and a state ticket, the legislature can not fail to recognize that the time surely is ripe for a law to compel Republicans to hold honest primaries like the Democrats of Ohio have been having these many years.

When Senator Huffman's primary election bill reaches the house it is doomed to be held up by the committee on elections until after the house has passed the new Bronson bill. Then the two branches will be deadlocked on primary election legislation until the whole matter is put into the hands of a conference committee, which will chop up both measures and report a hybrid of the two. But it will not have a hypothesized author, like Huffman-Bronson or Bronson-Huffman. Whatever is enacted finally must bear the name of only one putative father.

Representative Hunt of Cincinnati comes to the front with a new proposition to reduce the party pressure on local elections, which he will offer as an amendment to the Bronson bill when it comes to the house. As the Bronson bill is near the foot of the house calendar it is doubtful whether it will be reached until next week. Mr. Hunt's proposed amendment would provide that the names of the candidates for municipal and township office shall be printed on the ballot without party designation of any kind, nothing to appear save the name and the office for which it marks the candidate. The two candidates having received the highest and the next to the highest vote shall be the nominees. Other candidates may be added to the ballot later, by petition, but none may be placed on the ballot who has been a candidate at the primaries. Under this plan the two candidates selected at the primaries might belong to the same political party and thus the selection of an official would resolve itself into a mere question of preference between men, in which political party affiliation had no influence. This looks good theoretically, but it is safe to bet your head against a doubt that it will not be incorporated into the bill.

Because Senator Stites, chairman of the joint committee to investigate Senator Meek's charges against the state school department, had fencibles to look after in his district, which he hopes to represent in the next general assembly, the committee did not get under headway Wednesday, as was intended. Senator Meek has promised to furnish the committee with a complete list of the witnesses he proposed to use in his efforts to sustain his charges against the state school commissioner and the state board of school examiners. The committee expects to hold morning sessions, and probably Friday afternoons, to take testimony.

Representative Eley's bill requiring the United States flag to be displayed on courthouses from sunrise till sunset every day in the year is receiving the plaudits of the old soldiers. McCoy post, G. A. R., of Columbus, the first and largest Grand Army post in Ohio, adopted a ringing resolution commending Mr. Eley's bill as "timely and patriotic," and urging the legislature to pass it. Other G. A. R. posts are expected to take similar action.

Senator Berry believes that tax dodgers will be few if a sufficient penalty is prescribed. His bill, which assumes to "make the punishment fit the crime," provides that anyone who either intentionally or through neglect fails to furnish the assessor assigned to the duty of calling on him for such information, the facts necessary to properly list on the tax duplicate his personal property, shall be held liable to answer to the charge of perjury. The penalty for the crime is placed at not less than one year nor more than 10 years in the penitentiary.

The Atwell initiative and referendum resolution is reposing in the morgue of the house judiciary committee, where it was chloroformed two years ago. Representative Thomas of Trumbull county is chairman of that committee, as he was two years ago, but this time Mr. Thomas is in a different position, being one of the candidates for nomination by the Taft Republican convention for attorney general. Mr. Thomas is in a predicament. If he lets the resolution get out of the committee before the convention he may lose the nomination. If he gets the nomination afterward he will be accused of bad faith, and if he doesn't bring out the resolution, he stands a 40 to 1 chance of being defeated by the people. Mr. Thomas is in almost as sorry a plight as was the Lady of Shalott.

Still another amendment to the state constitution is proposed by Senator Williams. It is intended to fix definitely the line of succession in cases of vacancy in the office of governor. The death of Governor Patterson fixed attention on the fact that no succession is provided for beyond the lieutenant governor. When the lieutenant governor becomes governor the president pro tempore of the senate becomes the president of the senate, but not lieutenant governor, although by implication he would succeed to the office of acting governor in case of the death, removal, resignation or disability of the lieutenant governor. There has been some argument, however, that in case of vacancy in the office, while the lieutenant governor was serving the succession should go to the speaker of the house. The vacancy in the speakership when Colonel Thompson became secretary of state, showed how uncertain that kind of succession could be, and in such extremity the state would be without a governor until the legislature could be convened and a speaker elected by the house. Senator Williams proposes in his resolution to make the line of succession after the lieutenant governor, first the president of the senate, then the speaker of the house.

It is up to Representative Roberts of Cleveland to stop the increase of salary to present members by injunction if he can, which he declared he would do when the question was discussed early in the session. After a conference of the presiding officers of the senate and house, together with a number of members, concluded it was the intention of the assembly to make the increase available during the extended term of one year. This would make the pay for the current year $1,000, instead of $600, the former salary.

"I am convinced the state's policy should be to enlarge existing state charitable, penal and educational institutions, instead of building new ones," said Representative Benson of Ottawa, after returning from an inspection trip made by members of the house finance committee. "Many of the fixed charges would be no greater, if there were 2,000 inmates than if there were 1,000."

ORWELL C. RIDDLE

WILD WEST FOR BOYS

Vast Country Playgrounds Planned For City Youngsters.

FIRST ONE TO BE IN MICHIGAN

John D. Rockefeller and His Son-in-law, Harold McCormick, Will Finance Captain Jack Crawford's Scheme to Make Boys Self-Reliant. Poet Scout to Boss First Playground.

Great summer playgrounds in the country for city children is the latest philanthropy in which John D. Rockefeller intends to use part of his wealth, aided by his son-in-law, Harold McCormick of Chicago. Captain Jack Crawford, sometimes known as the "poet scout," made the statement recently while in New York. He ought to know, for he is to have direct charge of the first playground to be opened, a tract of wilderness in Michigan on Portage lake, about twelve miles from the town of Manistee.

The plan provides not only for a playground, but for a systematic supervision of the boys' summer play, which will be largely along the lines of hunting, trapping, woodcraft, swimming, military exercises, target practice and regular exercise in the old tricks of the former wild and woolly west.

Indians will be employed, and against them the boys will go on weekly expeditions. There will be stagecoaches for the boys to save from the attacks of bandits, the outlaws being other boys of the vacation crowd. There will be a typical old time frontier military post, where the lads will learn the life of the mounted service. Miniature derricks will be provided, so that the boys may learn another form of western life. In fact, everything will be provided to keep alive the old ability of the frontier days in the masculine American breast and to make the boys as capable as were their ancestors when called upon in an emergency. The "study period" will range from three to thirteen weeks.

Within the next year two play wilds, if not more, will be opened, the one in Michigan, which will be in operation next summer, and another on a large tract in New Mexico or southwestern Texas. The land in Michigan embraces almost 1,200 acres. Captain Crawford claims the conception of this idea as his own, though Rockefeller and McCormick moneys are to finance it in its full development. In speaking of it he said:

"It suggested itself to me in a talk I had with George Gould on a steamer coming back from England nearly twelve years ago. Mr. Gould was lamenting that much in the way of outdoor sports of a healthy and spirit building character was almost impossible in those days, when the country was growing so populous. I asked him what he meant, and he said he wished there was some frontier left to which he could send his older boys, under suitable supervision, where they could learn something of real roughing it for a few weeks every year. 'It makes better men of boys,' he continued, 'to learn something of the frontier life—and of the things they must know in order to stand independent under such conditions.'"

I agreed heartily with him, but the idea of creating an artificial frontier didn't occur to me until we had reached New York. Then George Gould had started west on an inspection-tour. I intended to present my idea to him if the chance ever came, but it never did. I was delivering lectures at the Hampstead Chautauqua last August, and one day John D. Rockefeller and Harold McCormick were among my auditors. I met them after the lecture and had a particularly long conversation with McCormick, in the course of which I happened to touch on my scheme for American boys. He became interested, and I elaborated it to him. Two days afterward he called for me and told me that whatever money I needed for the plan he and Mr. Rockefeller would furnish.

The plan in detail calls for the establishment of many parks for the purpose of teaching the boys military life and the old wild west methods. The parks will be as large as it is possible to make them under local conditions. The park in New Mexico, for example, probably will cover thousands of acres. The sections will be restored to a wild state. A small military post and a few log cabins will be built here and there, but otherwise no structures will mar the grounds. The boys will sleep in tents and be much in the open air.

The plan is both philanthropic and educational, but not so philanthropic that the parks will not be expected to pay for the actual expenses of the summer maneuvers. This latter phase of the plan is one born of McCormick's pet schemes to help to dissipate the class feeling that he believes is developing in the United States. Where a boy applies for admittance to the camp through his parents it will be ascertained whether he is in a position to pay for his food and accommodations. If his parents are in such a position, twice as much as may be necessary to keep him will be charged, and he will be obliged to take another boy who is unable to pay his expenses as his guest. At that the paying boy will not be taxed more than $50 or $60, for only the actual cost of food and ammunition will be put on the bill. All the expenses of maintenance of grounds, etc., will be provided out of the fund given by the capitalists.

"The poor boy will become the rich boy's tent mate and companion," says McCormick, "and in the summer campaigns each will come to appreciate the good qualities in the other. When they grow up, better men because of their summer training in the open, representative persons in the poorer and wealthier classes will have a respect for each other that they might not otherwise have." It is expected that several hundred boys from New York, Chicago and other cities, one-half poor and one-half rich, will be accommodated on the Michigan frontier next summer.

TO STOP DECEPTION IN WOOD

Bureau of Identification Established by the Government.

It is doubtful if any of the laboratories maintained by the government for scientific research are more unique in character and yet bear promise of more important results than one which has recently been established in Washington by the United States forest service for investigating the structure of commercially important woods, says a bulletin of the forest service. Laymen will not understand the significance of the proposed investigations carried on in this laboratory so quickly as architects, builders and other wood users who in these days of growing scarcity of the more valuable woods are seriously perplexed in identifying substitutes. Mistakes of this kind in identification have in several instances meant the loss of thousands of dollars and many embarrassing lawsuits.

Nearly any user of lumber can recognize and name offhand all the usual trees of the forest when he sees them growing, and not much difficulty is encountered in identifying the common kind of lumber in a mill yard, because he knows the few trees from which the yard lumber comes. But common kinds are growing scarce, and woods not often cut herebefore are appearing in the markets. The most experienced men are sometimes puzzled when they try to identify them, and persons with less experience have still more trouble. Is a certain wood gum or elm? Is another cucumber, linn or poplar? Is a stick sugar maple or red maple? Doubts may arise whether a piece is hemlock or spruce or whether it is lodgepole pine or fir or whether a shingle is cypress or cedar. A dealer may buy red oak and suspect that it is getting something else. There are thirty or more important species of oak. The best lumber dealer might not know which is which in the lumber pile, or if he knows he might not know how to prove it.

Many of these woods look alike, even to the trained eye of the mill man or the builder, and yet they are widely different in value for certain purposes, and it is of the greatest importance to be able to distinguish them quickly and certainly. Again, a new wood may come to a man's notice for the first time, and it may be necessary for him to decide what it is and what it is worth.

The government has been helping individual lumber users for some time, but the facilities have not been near so complete as they are now. It is to meet such needs and answer such questions that the forest service has established the laboratory and placed it in charge of a trained dendrologist. Architects, lumbermen, manufacturers and makers of woodware are already sending in samples of wood for identification and asking if there are not some structural characters by means of which such woods may be conveniently separated for relative species having greater or less value for some specific purpose.

The laboratory will investigate in a practical way. The structure of the woods, sections lengthwise and crosswise, will be studied so as to separate by structure alone the various species of a genus. Analytical keys to the trees of each group will be worked out. These will be based on the arrangement and character of the pores discernible to the naked eye or by a hand lens. The results will be published from time to time, with good illustrations, and placed at the disposal of lumber users.

BED FOR AUTO VICTIMS.

New Hospital in Philadelphia to Have Unique Endowment.

The Garretson hospital, recently opened in Philadelphia, will be the first in the United States to have an endowed bed reserved for the use of victims of automobile accidents. Money for the purpose is being raised by members of the Quaker City Ladies' Motor club.

A stipulation of their deed of gift will be that victims of their own cars will have a prior right to the bed, after which others who may be injured by reckless or careless motorists will have a chance to use it if it be unoccupied at the time.

Home For "Forty-niners."

Blanche Bates, the star of "The Girl of the Golden West," is agitating a project for the establishment of a home for needy "forty-niners." Miss Bates is an ardent student of the history of her native state and believes the work of development in California is directly due to the early gold seekers. In return for their efforts of a half century ago she believes those that require it should be rewarded to the extent of furnishing them a refuge in their old age. The actress is now in communication with the various congressional representatives from California with a view to learning how much she may depend upon them for aid in the movement.

Shopping For Summer.

There are straw hats in the windows. There are lawns in the store. There are linens and cowboys and thin pecked-up gals. There are snow banks on the sidewalks, there are ice cakes in the river. So let's go shopping, you and I, and shiver, shiver, shiver! There's the dainty sliver stocking with the open latticed side. And the Panama and sailor, each the coming season's pride. Boreas is speeding upward, all the arrows in his quiver. So let's go shopping, you and I, and shiver, shiver, shiver! The low necks are alluring as they pose behind the pane. And the slimy summer fabric charms our vision once again. So while the north wind sticks us like a million pins, let's go shopping, you and I, and shiver, shiver, shiver! —L. S. Obeying Orders.

[Copyright, 1907, by E. C. Parcells.]

There was a column of us riding along the highway in sets of fours when one of the cavalrines swayed, lurched and pitched from his saddle just as we heard the report of a rifle. At the edge of the cornfield twenty rods from the road was a puff of blue smoke to direct us to the bushwhacker. We had the fences down and were riding toward the spot two minutes later.

War is cruel enough, but bushwhacking is simply murder. A farmer ambushed himself and fires into a column of marching men. Whether he wounds or whether he kills, the war goes on just the same. The government would feel the loss of a mule more than of a man.

"If your column is bushwhacked, find the man and hang him. If he has a home, burn it."

Those were the orders, and every man remembered them as we rode down on the bushwhacker. We found where he had knelt down to take aim, but he had disappeared. Fifteen rods up the hill was a wretched pole cabin, with the roof sinking in. It had no door at the opening and no sashes at the windows. There was no floor, and the cooking was done at a rude fireplace. A girl who could not have been over eighteen and who was poorly clothed and barefooted sat at the front door, smoking a pipe. She saw us swarming up the hill, but did not move. Our curses filled her ears a moment later, but she puffed at her pipe and looked at us indifferently.

"Where is the man who fired the shot? You heard it. You must know who it was."

"Didn't dun hear nor see nuthin'," she replied.

There was only one room in the cabin. Lying on the floor under the rude bedstead, with his gun beside him, was the man. We hauled him outdoors without resistance. The wife on the steps did not rise up nor cease to puff. She did not look at us nor at him. The man was a squatter, perhaps twenty-two years old. He was "white trash."

"Bring a rope!"

The man leaned up against an old cherry tree and looked at wife and baby. I was looking into his face all the time. It was emotionless and unreadable. Not one human sentiment swept over it. He simply stared and stared and stared.

The baby had been nursed and crooned to sleep. The woman still held it. Her pipe had been smoked out. She still retained it in her black teeth. As the free end of the rope was thrown over the limb of another tree not far away the woman seemed to look at her husband for the first time and said:

"Jed, didn't I tell you un so?"

"Reckon."

"He's bushwhacked one of my men and he's got to hang!" said the officer to her.

"Told him not to."

"Will you go inside?"

"Fur why?"

"You don't want to see your own husband hang, do you?"

"I'll sit yere," she answered as she settled down.

"Now, then," said the officer to the husband, "do you want to kiss your wife and child before you go?"

I looked to see soft lines come into the man's face, but I observed not one single one. It was a face of wood or stone. He looked at the woman and at the child, and it seemed as if he had not understood. She did not even look up. I doubt if they had ever exchanged kisses. Perhaps he had never taken the infant in his arms. It seems cruel now, when peace has been upon the land for a third of a century, but blood ran hot in those days of war, and men did not stop to think. The man was walked to the other tree, the noose slipped over his head, and half a dozen pairs of hands drew him clear of the ground, his arms having been first tied behind him. He said no word and made no struggle. You would have thought that something like that had been part and parcel of his daily existence for years.

"Now we must burn the house," said the officer to the wife as the grewsome thing hung there, swaying in the breeze.

"Reckon you must," she answered as she moved aside for us to pass in.

We brought out everything and made a pile in the grass. She assisted us in no way. The baby woke up again, with a wail, but before nursing and crooning again she filled and lighted her pipe. One of the troopers gave her a match. When ordered to move, she walked away about ten yards and sat down under a bush. The old cabin was fired, and in a quarter of an hour it had disappeared. What we had carried out could have been taken away in a wheelbarrow. The provisions consisted of a small piece of bacon and about five pounds of cornmeal. The bugle blew "Attention!" and the troopers began moving down the highway.

I lingered behind to say to the woman:

"Your husband is dead, your house burned down, and what will you do now?"

"Can't reckon to say," she replied in careless tones.

"Got a father and mother to go to?"

She shook her head.

"Any friends to take you in?"

Another shake.

I took out and handed her a fire-doller greenback, and she was inspecting it and giggling over it when I hastened away.

LUMBER STATISTICS.

More lumber was cut in the United States last year than in any other year in its history. The enormous amount of 37,550,736 board feet was produced, and the mill value of this was $621,151,388. In addition, there were produced 11,858,260,000 shingles, valued at $24,155,555, and 3,812,807,000 lath, valued at $11,490,570. On the whole it is safe to say that the present annual lumber cut of the United States approximates 40 billion feet, and that the total mill value of the lumber, lath and shingles each year produced is not less than $700,000,000. These figures give some idea of how vast is the lumber industry and how great is the demand for its products.

A glance at the kinds of lumber produced shows very clearly the passing of white pine and oak, one the greatest softwood and the other the greatest hardwood which the forest has ever grown. Since 1899 the cut of white pine has fallen off more than 40 per cent, while that of white oak has fallen off more than 36 per cent. Today yellow pine leads all other woods in amount cut, while Douglas fir—and this will be a surprise to many—comes second. Since 1899 the cut of Douglas fir has increased 186 per cent. Louisiana is the foremost yellow pine state, with Texas, Mississippi and Arkansas following in order. Washington produces by far the greatest amount of Douglas fir.

A comparison of the lumber producing states shows that since 1899 there have been many changes in their relative rank. Washington, which in 1899 stood sixth, now leads, while Wisconsin, which eight years ago led all others, is now third. In the same period Oregon, Louisiana, Mississippi, Idaho and California made great strides as lumber producing states, though, on the other hand, the amount produced in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Georgia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri, Indiana and Ohio fell off anywhere from 29 to 54 per cent.

The highest priced native woods are walnut, hickory and ash, and the cheapest are larch and whitefir. From the fact, however, that since 1899 the average increase in the price of lumber has been 49 per cent, it will not be long before cheap woods are few and far between.

Figures upon the lumber cut of the United States in 1906 are contained in Circular 122 of the Forest Service, which can be had upon application to the Forester U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

LABOR COMMITTEE

Of Senate Unanimously Recommends Metzger Comparative Liability Bill—Has Passed House.

Columbus, Feb. 13.—The Senate labor committee Thursday voted unanimously to recommend the Metzger comparative liability bill, which has already passed the House. It has been fought by the railroad lobby. It eliminates from the present laws the fellow servant doctrine as far as it applies to railroads.

Notice is hereby given that on February 12, 1908, the St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church of Newark, Ohio, filed petition in the Common Pleas Court of Licking County, Ohio, asking for authority to form said church to sell and convey a parcel of real estate twenty-nine (29) feet and nine (9) inches wide, and one hundred and fifty (150) feet deep on the west side of North Fourth street, in Newark, Ohio, and being a part of lot No. 37, in said city.

Said petition will be for hearing any time on and after March 12, 1908. ST. PAUL EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN CHURCH OF NEWARK, OHIO. Flory & Flory, Attorneys. 2-13t

THE FAN MILL.

President Charlie Morton of the O. & P. is decidedly interested in the Akron team and so made a trip to Little Rock and tried with all his eloquence to secure the release of East from that team. Nothing doing however.

The Akron fans are blowing on their heads and stamping hard to keep their feet from freezing when they think of Akron's chances for the 1908 pennant.

"Ach Looie" Schietler, who has been one of Youngstown's leading pitchers for the past three years, will again wear that uniform next season. On Tuesday Schietler accepted terms with the management and will return his signed contract at once.

Secretary J. H. Farrell has issued a public statement to the effect that allegations that the commission promised to release Erie from the interstate so it could join the O. & P. are not true. He says that a majority of clubs in a league must consent before another club can withdraw. That clause stood between the eastern and western clubs of the O. & P. for so long, until a money compromise was effected.

Sam Wright manager of the Youngstown baseball team, continues to sign players. His latest addition is McClintock, who played third a part of last season.

It is reported from Sharon that E. E. Cleper, for the past two years secretary and business manager of the Sharon team has retired from the management of the club. He will still continue as part owner however.

Jack Mercer, a Springfield amateur twicker who has made a great record, expects to sign with Manager Ed Ransick of the Springfield club, for the coming season. Mercer twirled for an independent team in Dayton last summer, and made a great record. The stockholders of the Lancaster baseball club held an adjourned meeting and increased their capital stock from $5,000 to $10,000. All stockholders present were in favor of it and a further vote will be taken at the next meeting, which will take place next Tuesday evening.

GERALD HAYES WILL HANDLE AN INDICATOR

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 13.—Umpire Gerald Hayes has signed a contract to handle the indicator for the American association this year. Hayes, who formerly was a ball player, is said to be one of the best umpires in minor league circles.

NEW LEAGUE

Formed at Sandusky, Wednesday to Be Called Ohio Independent and composed of Six Teams.

The Ohio Independent league was launched at Sandusky, Wednesday, the result of the gathering of representatives from Sandusky, Tiffin, Lorain and Shelby. These four towns are assured, says a press dispatch, and the effort is being made to land two other cities to make up the circuit.

Not satisfied with the example of a no limit salary clause made by the Ohio-Penn league last season, the new league is sailing boldly into the broad seas and no salary limit has been mentioned. However it probably won't be very high so it doesn't make much difference.

Mike Peer of Lorain was elected president of the new organization and Jack Haggerty of Tiffin, no relative of the famous ball player, was elected to the job of secretary. Until the other towns can be secured no date will be set for the opening of the season.

EVERHARDT WINS FROM GRAHAM

Ten Round Contest at New Orleans Proves Veteran is Superior to Younger Man.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 13.—Jack Everhardt once well known fighter among the lightweights, after several years' absence from the ring, last night won the decision over Jack Graham of Kansas City in a ten round contest before the Southern Athletic club. Graham although much younger than his opponent, lacked ring experience and was easily out-generated by the veteran.

GAME BILL

Introduced Wednesday Compels Hunters to Secure License—Penalty for Violation Severe.

Representative Sites has introduced a new game bill to the House and some of the clauses may be of interest to Newark sportsmen. It says that no person shall hunt any wild bird or animal within the state without first having applied for and received a hunter's license and paid the fee as required.

An applicant who is not a resident of Ohio or a citizen of the United States will be required to pay a fee of $10 to the clerk of the Common Pleas court. A person who is a resident of the state will have to pay a fee of $1. No person can obtain a license who is under 16 years of age, and a license is not transferable. Any officer of the law can demand to see the license.

A resident of the state who violates this law will be fined not less than $10 or more than $50. A non-resident can be fined not less than $25 nor more than $100.

Meat is high, fruit is scarce, so buy Mrs. Austin's famous pancake flour. A good, hearty breakfast for little money.

HELD AN ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING AND TRANSACTED CONSIDERABLE BUSINESS.

Charles McClave of New London, Was Selected as Judge at the Next Poultry Show.

The Newark Poultry Association held one of the most interesting and enthusiastic meetings of the season in the convention room of the Court House Tuesday evening with a large per cent of its members present.

The Association decided to continue the score card system of judging, although quite a number of the members voted for a comparison show, and Charles McClave of New London, Ohio, was hired to place the awards of the next annual exhibit, which will be held in this city the first week in February, 1909.

The Association also decided that no members not present at any of the meetings, should vote on any of the important matters by proxy, but that all members of the Association should be bound by any action taken by the Association in session, when seven or more members were present, and that seven members should constitute a quorum.

The vote as taken on judges to be employed, resulted as follows: McClave 9; Schwab 5; Sites 1; Russell 3, and upon a vote being taken as to a comparison or a score card show the result was as follows: Comparison S. score card 10.

A committee of five members was appointed to draft by-laws and to report at the next meeting, the committee being W. F. Seymour, H. M. Close, C. W. Kent, Frank Fetter and Dr. W. L. Jackson.

The president, T. D. Keyes, also appointed the executive committee for the next annual exhibit as follows: T. E. Adams, W. F. Seymour, A. H. Powell, G. W. Horton, Leonard Essman, Joseph Fattig and James Criswell.

Supt. C. W. Kent also appointed as assistant superintendent, Dr. S. R. Reelhorn of Kirkersville.

On motion the meeting adjourned to meet at the call of the president.

MR. FLECK WILL EXHIBIT STAMP COLLECTION

Columbus, Feb. 13.—The Columbus Collectors' club, at its meeting last night in the Outlook building, examined and discussed the fine specialized collection of British colonial stamps belonging to W. H. Fields. The subject for display and discussion at the meeting of February 26 will be the stamps of Guatemala.

H. S. Fleck of Newark, who was present last night, will show his collection of Barbados stamps at the meeting of March 11.

SLAPS ELECTRIC BELT FAKIRS WHO ROB WEAK MEN.

What inspires more pity, and at the same time contempt, of fellow men than the knowledge that a man has lived through folly and disease, wrecked his life's happiness, and perhaps that of those bound to him by ties of love?

An eminent specialist, who decries that his name be withheld for ethical reasons, states that not thousands but millions of men are "stung" by electric belt fakirs, drugged and robbed by quacks and worthless patent medicines all over the civilized world. Not content with scourging the fakirs, he endeavors to end their plunder by publishing free his most successful prescription.

tion, used during a career of great success and renown in treating the fast fakers of New York's millionaires money spenders and folly hunters.

As most men are ashamed of their weaknesses, he advises the ingredients be obtained separately and mixed in the privacy of home. The three main ingredients are simple, though powerful and harmless concentrated extracts, put up in packages containing one ounce bottles, especially for filling prescriptions of various kinds, and the undiluted have pure drug guarantee printed on containers.

First get five cents worth of "Compound fluid Balmwort" in a one ounce bottle, and "Three ounce syrup Sarsaparilla" compound, take home, mix and let stand two hours, then get one ounce compound essence of Cardol and "one ounce Tincture Cado-mene." Mix all in a six or eight ounce bottle, shake well and take one teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring, followed by a drink of water.

If convenient, he adds, a hot salt water bath about 8 to 10 minutes for a few weeks to get the medicine circulated through the blood more thoroughly. Vigor and vim for both men and women can easily be obtained where nervous exhaustion, weakness, melancholia, impaired vital powers, and disease have lurked. Such a harmless and effective home treatment will prove a great blessing to unnumbered men and women.

The trouble with picking winners is that they are so often picked before they are ripe.

All things may come to those who wait, but they will come sooner if you are too busy to wait for them.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Harris are suffering from an attack of the grip. Dr. W. W. Reelhorn and Samuel Ranch made a business trip to Garysburg, N. C., to buy some rich cow for Mr. Ranch. The doctor has returned with the idea that Mr. Ranch will come Saturday, bringing six valuable animals with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wells recently entertained the former's uncle, Mr. O. C. Wells, and his two sisters, Mrs. Wm. Ward and Mrs. Maude Alger, all of Zanesville.

Mrs. Alice Roop has suffered a relapse from a recent attack of the grip and is quite ill at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Smith sold their 3-acre farm in Swamp Wednesday in Charles Camp for $200. The buyers were drawn by H. H. Simmons at his home Wednesday.

John Doyle of Columbus, was called to the bedside of his mother, Mrs. Wm. McAllister, who became ill with pneumonia several days ago, and has died. She was 81 years of age.

Special evangelistic services were held at the M. E. church Sunday evening, Feb. 9, and will continue for several days. Rev. John Tibbles of Hebron, has charge. Everybody invited to attend.

Dr. Ray Spurgeon, dentist of Dayton, Ohio, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Spurgeon, Sunday.

Last Saturday, while preparing the morning meal, Mrs. Henry Geiger had the misfortune to upset a coffee pot full of boiling coffee upon two of her little children, who were playing on the floor by the stove. The baby boy and the youngest daughter were the sufferers from the accident, both of whom were very badly scalded, though not fatally.

The first annual session of the South Licking County Farmers' Institute was held last Thursday in the L. O. O. F. hall. Considering the icy condition of the roads and the extreme inclemency of the weather, the attendance was very good. Papers and addresses were given by several, among them J. F. Keller of Newark. Other speakers were Alfred White, Henry Geiger and Mr. Farnsworth of Columbus, who came in the enforced absence of Allen O. Moore.

Charles Hensberger of Columbus, furnished excellent music. The W. C. T. U. furnished dinner and supper. It is hoped that this organization may be made permanent and that many more such institutes may be held.

Rev. and Mrs. D. C. Keller went to Alexandria, Mo., where they will assist Rev. C. F. Schneider in evangelistic services at the Alexandria Baptist church.

Ask your doctor if he knows a better pill for a sluggish liver than Ayer's Pills. Then follow his advice.

It is impossible, simply impossible, for any one to enjoy the best of health if the bowels are constipated. Undigested material, waste products, poisonous substances, must be daily removed from the body or there will be trouble, and often serious trouble, too. Ayer's Pills aid nature, that is all. J. C. The Advocate's Evening Story

MR. PRIGMORE'S ASSURANCE.

[Original.]
The ice season was on, and a party of young men and women were taking advantage of it for skimming the icy surface of one of those little bays lying along the coast of Long Island. There were Harry Morro, Marjorie Kent and Guthrie Prigmore. There were a lot more, but these three are the only ones who figure in this story. Prigmore was rich, dapper and one of those reckless men whose recklessness is usually folly. With women he counted for far more than he was intrinsically worth. Morro was modest and, though cool, had a very keen appreciation of danger, especially of that attending ice skating. Nevertheless he was fond of sports, and of no sport was more fond than this same gliding over ice on steel runners.

Prigmore had joined the party at the Bayside hotel, a stranger to most of them. He had not been there six hours before every girl set her cap for him. This didn't matter much for any of the men except Morro, who had been attentive to Miss Kent, and they were supposed to be on the eve of an engagement. When the party left the hotel and went down to the ice boats it was expected that each of the men would take out a girl and that Harry Morro would take Marjorie Kent. What did Prigmore do without consulting preferences but hand Marjorie on to a boat and get on himself. This assurance was just what captured the girls, and Marjorie couldn't help casting a "coquettish glance at her lover, as much as to say, "Isn't it nice to be preferred by this splendid fellow to all the others?" Harry looked anxious.

"Have you ever run an ice boat, Mr. Prigmore?" he asked.

"I was born on one," Prigmore replied gayly, and letting out the sail, he started, as he was bound to do in everything, to lead the party. He hadn't gone a hundred yards, however, before his sail jibed, the boom just grazing Marjorie's head.

"There'll be trouble there," muttered one of the men. "He doesn't know how to sail an ice boat."
Most of the couples stopped to watch the favorite. A strong wind was blowing from across the bay. Prigmore and Miss Kent were well out of the ice when they were observed trying very hard to do something, but what was not apparent.

"Great heavens," exclaimed Morro, "the sheet's fouled the tiller! He can't bring her up into the wind."
On the opposite shore the breakers had broken up the ice and were rolling in on the sand. If the occupants of the ice boat failed to release the sheet, they could not bring the boat up into the wind and they would go over the edge of the hard ice and be pounded with the broken pieces on the beach. But with the wind pulling on the sail they were not likely to get it back to disengage the sheet. Morro jumped into an ice boat and started after them. Now began a race between life and death. Morro was an expert ice boat man and knew how to get the best speed out of his boat. He was watched anxiously by the party on the shore, who kept the chased boat in view as well. From the start he gained, but could be caught by the couple before they shot over the edge of hard ice? The only advantage he had was that their efforts somewhat retarded the speed of their boat.

In time Morro got within a hundred feet of them, they being within some 600 feet of the breakers, both boats going at a terrific speed. The sight before them was awful. The breakers rolled in, throwing up the anchor ice, dashing it down, then sucking it under the ice for another break.

The party on the opposite shore stood looking on in ghastly silence. Nearer and nearer Morro approached the yacht he chased, and at last they could see him, as they supposed, fouled with it. Then the two boats began to spread apart, the sheet of Morro's being eased off and making a sharp turn in which only a considerable weight over the raised skate kept the boat from going over.

Morro had steered his yacht alongside of the other. Prigmore, without waiting for Marjorie to save herself, made a jump and caught a projection on Morro's boat. Morro reached for Marjorie and drew her safely over the gap. Then, directing her and Prigmore to get on the windward side, he spun his boat around sharply and put her before the wind. A crack in the ice like a pistol shot beneath the runners made every heart stand still, but the headway saved them, and in ten seconds more they were out of danger. The sight of the abandoned yacht shooting over into the broken ice and pounded with it gave them a shudder, and they drew a deep sigh of relief.

Sailing before a fresh wind, it was not long before savor and saved approached the party standing on the shore, who gave one yell of welcome, the men throwing up their hats, the girls waving.

When they left the boat Marjorie Kent fell on the neck of one of her girl friends, hid her face and trembled. Prigmore's assurance had given place to a ghastly look of terror. Morro busied himself lowering the sail of his boat.

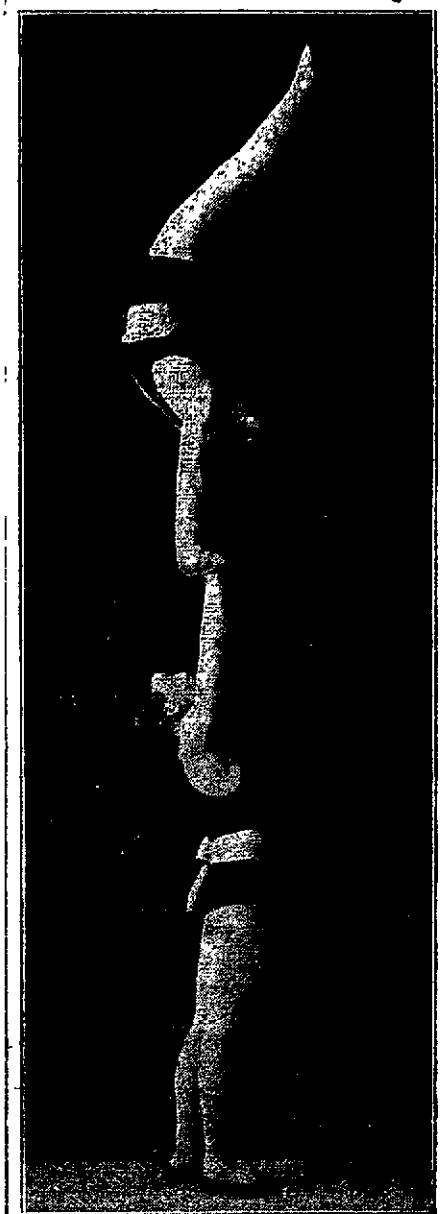

There was something in the narrow escape that deterred the women from venturing on the boats, and the party returned to the city. Morro was too generous to tell of Prigmore's having saved himself in place of Marjorie. Marjorie tried to keep the secret, but failed. Prigmore had come into the party like a rocket and had gone down like its stick. He was not seen again by any of them.

John Appleby the banjoist still "gets hits" in the applause line, and with the pictures and illustrated song the bill this week is well worth the price of admission.

CHICAGO GLEE CLUB.

The Chicago Glee club stands among the best male quartets in the country. The club may be classed with the older organizations as it has been constantly before the public since February 1899. Few changes in membership, voices perfectly adapted to parts assumed, and an artistic musical temperament have produced a very high degree of excellence. The repertoire of the club comprises the best of all types of part song music, and its programs of male quartets, trombone quartets, characterizations, vocal and horn solos, present such variety and merit as to please every auditor. This will be the fourth number on the Y. M. C. A. course next Wednesday night. Reserved seats can be secured at the Y. M. C. A. Course tickets for the balance of the course can be secured for $1.00 for five numbers, including the Chicago Glee club, John Temple Graves (or substitute), Herbert Leon Cape, humorist, Ralph Parlette, and the Apollo Quintet and bell ringers.

ECZEMA NOW CURABLE.

All Itching Skin Diseases Which are Not Hereditary, Instantly Relieved by Oil of Wintergreen.

Can Eczema be cured? Some physicians say "Yes." Some say "No."

The real question is, "What is meant by Eczema?" You mean those scaly eruptions, those diseases which make their first appearance, not at birth, but years afterward, and perhaps not until middle age—then there can no longer be any question that these forms of Eczema are curable.

Simple vegetable oil of wintergreen, mixed with other vegetable ingredients, will kill the germs that infest the skin. Apply this prescription to the skin, and instantly that awful itch is gone. The very moment the liquid is applied, that agonizing, tantalizing itch disappears, and continued applications of this external remedy soon cure the disease.

We carry in stock this oil of wintergreen properly compounded into D. D. D. Prescription. While we are not sure that it will cure all these cases of skin trouble which are inherited, we positively know that this D. D. D. Prescription, whenever rightly used, will cure every last case of genuine Eczema or other skin trouble, which do not exist at birth.

We know this. Any way, you, yourself, will know that D. D. D. Prescription instantly takes away the itch the moment it is applied to the skin. Frank D. Hall, druggist, North Park Place, Newark, O. Stop that itch today—instantly. Just call at our store and try this refreshing and soothing liquid; also ask about D. D. D. soap.

THE ORIGIN OF WOMAN.

(Kansas City Journal.)

The Hindus say that Twashtri, the Vulcan of Hindoo mythology, created the world, but that when he had made all other things and had come to the creation of what was to be his chef d'oeuvre he found to his annoyance that he had run out of materials. He had not a single chunk of solid material left. With a mental exclamation upon his carelessness, he fell into a profound meditation, the result of which was the following formula, the recipe for the creating of the sweet confection known as woman:

He took, according to the legend "the roundness of the moon, the undulating curves of the serpent, the graceful twist of the creeping plant, the light shivering of the grass blade and the slenderness of the willow, the velvety softness of the flowers, the lightness of the feather, the gentle gaze of the doe, the frolicsome of the sunbeam, the tears of the cloud, the inconspicuous of the wind, the timidity of the hare, the vanity of the peacock, the hardness of the diamond, the cruelty of the tiger, the heat of the fire, the chill of the snow, the cackling of the parrot and the cooing of the turtle dove."

He mixed these together in equal proportions and the result was woman. Isn't that about as good a guess as any? After all, isn't this an advance upon the rib theory?

SECOND DELEGATION
house delegation were exuberant. Representative Douglas, who is angry because Senator Foraker read a number of his private letters in the senate on Monday, told one of his friends that Foraker's title had been changed from "Fire Alarm" to "False Alarm."
Some of Foraker's lieutenants in the house and the department's declared Wednesday if they were not recognized at once by Secretary Taft and the fight called off. Senator Foraker would organize an independent Republican party in Ohio and would run a complete Republican ticket in every district in the state next fall, independent of the regular ticket. This, of course, would mean a clean sweep by the Democrats throughout the state.
Senator Foraker himself positively declined to discuss his plans for the future. The administration leaders characterized this as the final "bluff" of the Foraker contingent "in order to save themselves from complete annihilation in the state and district conventions."
